A Trial of Wills - Hua Shan Mountain
 Hua Shan Mountain, China

11:30 PM: I am in near complete isolation. Sitting on a bench, marveling at shadows. A couple startles me as they wander by. The breeze is cooler now. As I walk, I see other mountain pioneers lying in deformed positions on hard concrete, blanketed by heavy coats. I look forward to those cold slabs.

I can't sit for long or my body will shut down. I must keep moving.

12:15 AM: Terror consumes me inside the forest. The moon's bright light vanishes under the canopy. Utter darkness. Wind fabricating menacing sounds that rotate my flashlight 360 degrees.

So I've decided to sit in it. Let it consume me. Conquer it. Fear is merely a product of the mind. Don't be afraid. The unknown is what makes our world so exciting.

Go again.

1:00 AM: I've made it, but satisfaction is eclipsed by threat. Beyond, a foreboding thunderstorm. Lightning blotches segments of clouds. No thunder yet, so it is far; but I can see it approaching. Nature jeering at human insignificance.

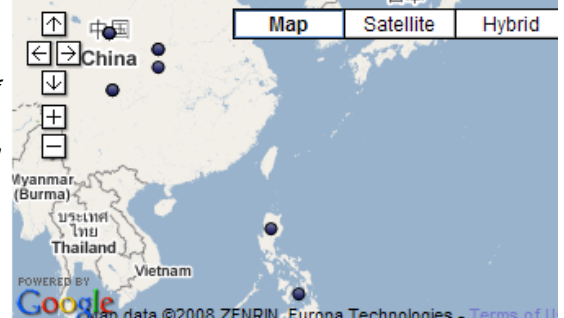

Panic sets in. Standing at the highest peak in the area, over a mile in the sky, civilization is not reckless enough to colonize this land. My adrenaline rushes; worry absorbs me. Does lightning strike this high? Could the storm pass? What structures can provide safety? I am far from finished this journey.

I bolt. Down, down, down. A race against nature. Don't stop. As far as you can. Where to stay? The last hostel was forty-five minutes ago; last building at least a half-hour. A cave? An abandoned ruin? I stop. An outhouse. Filthy, wet, small. Thunder cracks. I go inside.

2:00 AM: Crouching. Listening. Waiting. Intense downpours accompanied by rumbles so loud they shake the walls. Half mesmerized by the power, the beauty... flashes so bright, so blinding; and half consumed by future's unpredictability. Hold on.

I sit on a plastic bag, between two holes in the ground, trying desperately not to touch the floor, sheltering my nose with my bag. Darkness heightens my senses. Crack. My feet are losing circulation; my back in in pain. I can only rest my eyes; sleep isn't possible. Just wait. Wait. Wait. Wait.

Rotary Clubs Raise Funds For Underprivileged Children

The Rotary Club of Media held a benefit at Hedgerow Theatre recently.

Attendees enjoyed a pre-show reception and performance of "A Christmas Caro," with proceeds going to support the Rotary's Rotoplast program, which provides free constructive surgery and treatment for underprivileged children born with cleft lip and cleft palate.

Dede Carruthers of the Rotary Club of Greater West Chester Sunrise presented a short slide show and spoke about the Rotoplast program prior to the performance. She thanked attendees for working to "save smiles and change lives," and noted that without the program, children born with cleft palate in less-developed countries "would have no hope of an ordinary life."

A handmade, queen-size

Amish quilt entitled "Answered Prayers" was also on display at the reception. The quilt will be raffled off April 19. Chances are $5 or three for $10 and the public can enter the raffle by emailing Carruthers at dcarruthers@novasavingsbank.com. All raffle proceeds will also support the Rotoplast program.

Dear the Rotary Club of Media Members,

At the November 20th club meeting, I gave a presentation about the importance of The Rotary Foundation of Rotary International in our community and our world. Each of you by now should have received a letter from PDG Russ DeFuria and District Annual Giving Chair Bob Edge asking for your support and with instructions about how to make your gift to The Rotary Foundation. If you did not receive that mailing or have any question at all about how to make your contribution, please don't hesitate to contact me.

If you were not at the November 20th meeting, the club Board of Director's and several club Rotarians have made available 20,000 recognition points as a challenge match to your gift to the Rotary Foundation. Each recognition point is equal to a dollar in allowing you to reach your first or your multiple Paul Harris Fellow designation. If you wish to take advantage of that challenge match, please make out your check to The Rotary Foundation and get it to me at the address below. I will fill in the appropriate paperwork for you to transfer the correct number of recognition points to you.

If you have any questions about where you currently stand relative to your giving history with the Foundation let me know.

Thanks in advance for your support of The Rotary Foundation. Millions and millions of children and families in our community and around the globe are counting on you.

Sincerely, Jeff Cadorette, PDG
