Ring the Bell

The Christmas season is quickly approaching! The Salvation Army in Chester, PA needs help to make sure this season is special for all. In order to do so, we are in need of volunteers for our kettle stands at several different locations throughout the Delaware County area.

The kettle stands will need volunteers from November 6th to December 24th at these locations, from 9AM to 9PM depending on your volunteers availability.

The money raised during this time will help 3,000 people and 400 families have a wonderful holiday to remember, including a healthy Christmas day meal.

We hope The Rotary Club of Media will be interested in partnering with us in our efforts to "Doing the Most Good" for our community.

Please contact Erin Levin through the below contact information if The Rotary Club of Media is interested or has any questions.

Blessings!

The Other Side of the World

Written by Brandon Johnson, our Ambassadorial Scholar.

October 21, 2008
Culture of the Barangay
Banaue, Luzon, Philippines

As I interviewed people in the barangay, asking, "What do you like most about your culture here?" the responses sounded like a broken record (with a pleasant tune). Over and over again, I heard things like: There's unity in our community. We are there to help each other out. We respect each other. We trust each other. And my experiences showed me that this wasn't just rhetoric---this really was how they lived their lives.

After breakfast and farewells, and a private bath in the river, I began the two-hour trek to the adjacent town, Cambulo. Along the way, an old man balanced a stack of firewood down the narrow, uneven, rocky path. Callused bare feet and a walking stick guided his way. He was blind.

Know someone who would make a great Rotarian? Bring them to a meeting!

Entering Cambulo, a line of women slowly worked down a field, harvesting together like a family. Beyond, a church hovered in the distance. Like Batad, Cambulo is equipped with several non-residential buildings: an elementary school, a playground and a few Christian churches. Some homes are changing too, many constructed with sturdy concrete instead of grass and wood. But aside from that, little modernization has infiltrated the Ifugao's society.

Although my language may depict the Ifugao people as ancient, fire-ritual tribesmen, don't be deceived. They're sociable, pleasant and warmhearted. They wear the same clothes as us, they eat with plates and silverware, they read novels. The children go to school and play basketball and tag. On weekends, many help their parents tend to the fields. Yes, many aspects of their lives are worlds from ours. But while I won't profess that there is---or should be---any sense of a "normal" person, I can tell you that the Ifugao people, despite thousands of generations of isolation, are remarkably similar to you and me. And each person I met yet again reminded me of one of my favorite messages: We Are All the Same.

Vets of the Field

When I asked a pair of elderly women what their biggest hardships were, they answered, Working in the fields. But when I asked whether they enjoyed their lives, their answers were quick: Yes, of course! In another Asian country, Bhutan, the "Happy Planet Index" of the New Economics Foundation in London ranks Bhutan the 13th happiest country in the world---even with their incredibly poor economy. I wonder how the Ifugao would fare.
