A NEW Medium

Beginning this month, our Medium will be reformatted to fit the information of the whole month. A new addition will now come out monthly. I will still accept information from any member and try to get it into the newsletter in a timely fashion. This NEW Medium will sometimes not host our traditional page two and page four information featuring the Calendar of Events, Board, and Club Members. That information can still be found on the website by viewing previous issues of the Medium. All important changes will be featured in the newsletter that will still be on your tables at the weekly meetings. Enjoy!

January 7 - The Center Foundation

Topic: Helping Women in Transition

Susan Garrison will talk about The Center Foundation's growth into a respected local agency that helps women in transition and how mentoring is essential for everyone. The WomenCare mentoring program and the Young Parents Support Network (YPSN) will be highlighted as model programs for women in our community.

Susan K. Garrison, J.D., LL.M., is a respected Delaware County Attorney with her own firm, Garrison Law Offices, located in Media. She is also the Executive Director and Founding Trustee of The Center Foundation, a 501(c)(3) established to help women in transition. She has served on the Pennsylvania Commission for Women; the Delaware County Planning Commission; and is a member of the Board of Media Fellowship House, the International Mentoring Association and others. She has received numerous awards including the Woman of Achievement in Public Service by the Delaware County March of Dimes.

January 14-Healthy Communities Initiative

Topic: What Young People Need to Succeed

Dana Riker will review that the 40 Developmental Assets are and why they are important to develop. You will see and hear from the perspective of our young people, how Healthy Communities Initiative (HCI) is building these assets. Finally, Dana will share HCI's vision and upcoming events that provide opportunities for you to experience and support achieving HCI's Vision.

Dana Riker is the Executive Director of Healthy Communities Initiative, Inc.,

a non-profit organization that is changing and saving the lives of our young people by developing in youth the life skills and character traits they need to succeed. These skills and traits are called the 40 Developmental Assets. She is also President and founder of Solutions 4 Your Success! Inc., a 12 year old consulting business that works with organizations to improve attitudes at work and leadership abilities to create a culture and work environment where there is a high level of trust due to excellent work relationships. This trust-based work environment promotes the desire for people to want to be accountable and do their best at work. Dana brings out the best in people and performance within organizations.

January 21 - Pathways PA

Topic: "Giving Sight to the Blind"

Carol Goertzel will discuss how Pathways PA will help us to see the invisible poor around us who need a boost to move to self-sufficiency and higher self-esteem.

Carol Goertzel, President and CEO of Pathways PA, has championed economic self-sufficiency and family well-being for over 30 years. Ms. Goertzel has a MS in Non-Profit Management from Eastern University, a BA in Sociology and Anthropology from Washington University, and has done graduate work in Chinese History at the University of Pennsylvania. Ms. Goertzel recently received the Woman of Distinction Awarded from the Philadelphia Business Journal, DelCo Chamber Award in 2004, "Woman of the Year" of Interboro BPW, and numerous additional awards in recognition of her service to the community. She is a member of the Pennsylvania Commission for Women, the Delaware County Women's Commission, President of the Friends of Delaware County Women's Commission, a trustee of The Center Foundation, and VP of Interboro Business and Professional Women.
